

When you cross an aerospace engineer (a.k.a. rocket scientist) with a teacher, librarian, and genealogist, you get a wide range of knowledge and a depth of experience rarely equaled. You also get complex topics explained in everyday language with enthusiasm and excellence.

Service Description

Education - Presentation

Presentations that inform and engage.

Some available titles:

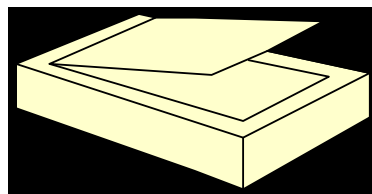

- Beyond the Begats: Adding Biographical Detail to Your Genealogy
- A Genealogist's Introduction to WorldCat (The Database of Library Catalogs)
- Finding Online Newspapers
- Using NewspaperArchive.com
- Using Chronicling America (Newspapers at the Library of Congress)
- Using Google News Archive
- Using Google Books
- Mapping Your Genealogy

Education - Instruction

Most presentations can easily be converted into large or small group training sessions or workshops of two or four hours.

Instruction in Microsoft Office and other applications is also available.

Preservation

Let me help you preserve your family heirlooms and/or research. I can take digital photographs or scan your important items for preservation and/or sharing with other family members.

Retrieval, Research, & Analysis

If you don't have the necessary knowledge, access, time, or even desire, I can do the work for you. Or, I can help you figure out what to do next.

I can do anything from simple retrieval of a known resource, to the actual research and even the final written analysis.

Blog – Genealogy Publication Reviews

<http://blog.vandeventer.net>

Reviews of all sorts of published resources relevant to genealogy. Includes books and book-like resources originally published on paper, CDs, and on the web. Does not include websites, databases, or software.
